The smoke and dried citrus peel on the nose are very striking, but they don't quite prepare you for all the mineral power, herbal energy and the magic on the palate. Stunningly expressive, very intense finish that makes a bold statement.

The white-peach, wildflower and slate aromas leap out of the glass and pull you into this very focused and precise dry riesling with a seriously stony personality, the mineral power growing through the long crystalline finish.

This effusive dry riesling is just brimming with citrus fruit and blossoms, plus a whiff of flint. Great balance of fruit, medium-full body and mineral freshness, the long finish beautifully underlined by a subtle touch of tannin. From organically grown grapes.

Dark and smoky with plenty of wild herbs and wet earth, this is a bold, generous dry riesling with moderate acidity, but plenty of structure nonetheless. The mirabelle fruit emerges slowly with aeration. Bold yet very clean finish. From organically grown grapes.

The fresh-pineapple and cooked-peach aromas indicate that the summer was great and all that sunshine landed in here. Then comes a pretty compact and seriously mineral palate that's still quite tight. I love the dried citrus peel, herbs and minerals at the powerful finish.

What a beautiful nose of peach, blossoms and honeysuckle. Sleek and racy, but also very elegant, this has the freshness of a mountain stream and great lemon and mineral character at the tight finish.
